

The old and the new stand in stark contrast during Johan Norberg's visit to the Sahara, where ancient towns are being electrified in a dramatic new effort to bring "Power to the People."